

Focus on Culture and Communication

A Workshop Series for Teachers and Scholars

Are you a graduate student or scholar who wants to communicate more effectively across cultures? Get better at making small talk? Talk confidently about your research? Learn how to speak with authority? These professional development workshops focus on intercultural communication skills for Harvard's international environment. Participants are welcome to attend one or more of these events.

Spring 2018

Navigating Culture: Making Connections and Building Relationships

Friday, January 26th, 1:00–3:00pm

Small Talk: Networking Across Cultures

Friday, February 16th, 1:00–3:00pm

Big Talk: Telling Your Professional Story

Friday, March 9th, 1:00–3:00pm

Speaking with Authority

Friday, April 6th, 1:00–3:00pm

All workshops take place at the Bok Center for Teaching and Learning at 125 Mt Auburn Street, Room 325.

Learn more and register at bokcenter.harvard.edu/international-teachers-and-scholars